Illumination Intensity: The front headlamp of PULSAR180 generally provides sufficient illumination intensity to ensure good visibility during night-time or low-light conditions.

Lighting Modes: The headlamp of PULSAR180 usually has two modes: high beam and low beam. The high beam mode is used to provide illumination at a longer distance, while the low beam mode provides shorter, but wider, illumination.

Please note that specific motorcycle models and configurations may vary depending on the country/region. Additionally, with the passage of time, there may be new models and technologies introduced.
