The pedals of a motorcycle refer to the part for the rider to step on and are used to ensure the safe operation of the rider and passengers. The footrest is usually located at the bottom of the motorcycle and consists of a pedal and a joystick connected to it.

In the KA150 motorcycle design, the pedals are usually located under the rider's feet and are divided into front pedals and rear pedals. The front pedals are usually used for rider control and the rear pedals are for passenger control.

By using footrests, the rider and passenger achieve balance and safety. In short, the pedals of a motorcycle are an important part used by the rider to control the vehicle. The pedals are used to achieve functions such as balance, safety and comfort.
