A motorcycle wheel cylinder is a component of the braking system in a two wheeler vehicle. It is a hydraulic device that helps in the operation of the drum brakes.

Function: The wheeler wheel cylinder is responsible for applying the braking force to the brake shoes inside the brake drum. When the brake pedal is pressed, hydraulic pressure is created, which activates the wheel cylinder. The wheel cylinder then pushes the brake shoes against the brake drum, creating friction and causing the tricycle to slow down or stop.
