Motorcycle brake shoes are generally made of friction materials (usually organic materials, semi-metallic materials or ceramic materials), which have good friction properties and wear resistance.

When you need to replace your motorcycle brake shoes, you can take the following steps:

Determine XPRESS model and specifications: Confirm the model of your motorcycle with us to determine the suitable brake shoes.

Buy brake shoes: You can choose to buy them in our offline store or on the motorcycle spare parts website. Make sure you choose the correct size and model of brake shoe for your motorcycle model and braking system.

Replace the brake shoes: Lift the motorcycle and stabilize it on a suitable support, remove the brake caliper, and remove the old brake shoes. Clean the surfaces of the brake calipers and discs to make sure they are free of dust or dirt. Install the new brake shoes into the brake calipers and make sure they are installed and seated correctly.
